

Summit for Stanford Larsen Memorial Scholarship Fund

Mt. Washington, January 19th

I am planning my second annual Mt. Washington climb. I am climbing in memory of Stanford Larsen. Please read below to understand why keeping his memory alive through a scholarship fund is so important.

“Stanford had a zest for life. He excelled at piano and saxophone, enjoyed performing on stage, was a friend to all, and enjoyed people. He will always be remembered as a young man who had strong faith in God and lived a life of integrity and service.”

For more information go to www.stanfordlarsen.org

Currently, the summit conditions are as follows:

Temperature: -10° F

Wind: NW 72 mph

Visibility: 300 ft to 80 miles

Ground Conditions: 12" snow & ice
